His intention was apparently to pay the amount back; but, as usually happens in such cases, he was unable to do so, and was compelled at last to make a clean breast of the matter to Mr. Kinguner. It is easily understood that that gentleman could hardly hesitate as to the course he was compelled to adopt. Property entrusted to the firm had been made away with, and his duty to his constituents as well as to the public, rendered it clear that he was called upon to take action in the matter. It would perhaps be rather startling the opportunity which the witnesses afforded if it were shown in how many honses in China such is the case. It is not too much to say that in the large majority, the Compradore is much more in practice than the simple paid servant which he is represented in theory. We are not insen- lated in their due order, not only did the depasible of the fact that this is in a great measure a necessity resulting from the peculiar nature his conclusions as to the amount of credence of the China trade; but there is on this to be given to the testimony, and often hinderaccount none the less, but rather the more reason, that the full nature of the liabi- manded. When officers were allowed to make requisitions for their troops, they soon bogan to make them for themselves; and those who demanded provisions to-day would call character, the profession of arms became a mercenary speculation, and the officer's thoughts grew to be directed to the acquisition of plunder instead of the attainment of glory. The Duke had succeeded in keeping his army well in hand. No officer was permitted to make any requisition simaelf, but was obliged to state bis wants to the commissary, who applied to the agents of the French Government for the articles required; and the supply being made through channels known to the people, and by authorities recognised by them, the burthen was not felt to be so oppressive as if the exaction bad been made by the immediate order of an enumy, and at the caprice of individual officers:

On leaving the Assembly Garibuldi had still the courage to tell the Bordeaux populace that he knew "how to distinguish Republican France from the France of the priests."
These words, and the General's immediate departure for Caprera, may be taken as evidence that Garibaldi, on a first sight of his colleagues in the Chamber, despaired of the cause of Republican France. Why Republi-

TERRIBLE CATASTEOPHE AT DUNKERQUE -A telegram from Dunkerque says it is estimated that 150 women and children have perished through an explosion at a cartridge factory in that town. The building was entirely of wood. It was almost impossible to save any one. Twenty corpses are believed to be still in the dibris, and those that have been recovered present a feurful spectacle. The seence amongst the population are described as heartrending.

MILTON AND HIS TUTOB. - Mr. David Laing. of Edinburgh, has just issued an interesting little memoir of Milton's tutor from ten to fiftern years of his age-Dr. Thomas Young, the celchitated Puritan divine, vicur of Stowmarket, Suffolk, a Scotchman by birth. Mr. Laing's volume, "Biographical Notices," contains a lithegraph of Milton's mulberry tree, and the old vicurage, where he was often a visitor, with a portrait of Dr. Young, fac-similes of his writing, and the title-page of his "Dies Domi-nica;" also a full list of the tracts connected with the Smeetymons controversy.

COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE. APRIL 13TH, EVENING.

The market for Bengul Drug, as far as a legitimate demand is concerned, has been completely neglected. Owing to extreme prices for new Patna under speculative influence, the day has been occupied again with clearance of time liargain transactions. Settlements of some operations have been come to by payment of difference in value, at as high as $585, and as son as the time bargain sales are all closed for the 3rd sales drug, of which, there is but very little left to be arranged, prices will at once considerably decline, when only the Chinese will resume business, and supply themselves at moderate rates. The unsold stock of Bengal is now estimated at about 1.400 chests Patnu, and 400 chests Benares, chiefly in the band of one firm. New Patna is quoted at $570 to $575, nominal; Benarcs at $540 to $5424; Malwa at $620 to $625 little doing. By the steamer Enterprise, telegrams have been received from Calcutta-via Singapore to the 5th inst., giving the average of Patos opium of the 4th sale about Rs. 1.171; Benares Rs. 1.151 per Ross, Master, will have quick despatch for the chest. The steamers China and Thales were to habove port leave on or about the 15th inst. for Hongkong. The next Mail steamer, due bers on or about the 20th inst., has about 1,400 chests Mulwa opium, as also some Bengal Drug.

PUNTI AND MANDARIN

PRONUNCIATION.

An Anglo-Chinese Dictionary, by the Rev.

Press Office, Hongkong. FOR scope and practical service this Work stands unrivalled. All the new words which the Chinese have of late years been compelled to coin to express the numerous objects in machinery, photography, telegraphy, and in science generally, which the rapid advance of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are here given in extenso. Each and every word is fully illustrated and explained, forming exercises for students of a most instructive nature Both the Court and Punti pronunciations are given, the accents being carefully marked on the best principle hitherto attained. The typography displays the success of an attempt to make the Chinese and English type correspond n the size of body, thereby effecting a vast comony of space, achieving a clearness not previously attained, and dispensing with those vast margins and vacant spaces which have heretofore characterized Chinese publications. The scope of the work is so great, and ite ntilitarian purposes so complete, that a re-ference to its pages enables a person who understands English to communicate effectively with natives who understand nothing but Chinese. In this respect the work will be found indispensable to all Europeans residing in Chins, and to the natives themselves it explains subjects fully, with which very few indeed of them are perfectly acquainted. To parties resident in England and interested in Ohina it cannot but be invaluable occasionally. It comprises upwards of two thousand large quarto puges.

OHINESE AND ENGLISH DICTIONARY. THE REVD. W. LOBSCHEID.

THE above work, which has been chiefly students in the study of Chinese literature, comprises many characters not met with in any of the Dictionaries bitherto published. The selection of between 8,000 and 9,000 characters will make it comparatively easy to find a glaracter without counting the strokes of the compound figure, (minus the radical), and the addition of the Synonyms will prove a great help to such as are unxlous to acquaint themselves more minutely with the character The work contains 584 Imperial Octavo pages, and is neatly bound in cloth.

The Border Ministrel and the Scotch Shakepeure. The time draws nigh when Scotland is to

We use the words "a portion of it" advisedly, for we are aware that there were circumstances connected with the Burns colebration which secured greater onthusinsm than we can expect in the case of Sir Walter Scott. Mrs. Stowe, public meetings bold in Scotland in her honour in 1853, any allusion made to Burns brought down the house, while Scott's name was re-ceived rather coldly. We may supply some Wintoun, Nithisdale, Derwentwater, Widdringceived rather coldly. We may supply some reasons for what seems to have puzzled her considerably; and these reasons will be found to apply to the point in hand. In the first place, Mrs. Stowe's admirers—and we state it in her bonour, not in her disparagement—belonged principally to the people, the very class among whom Burns is most highly admired; the upper classes were not so fully represented at her gatherings, and they in ceneral prefer Scott.

Secondly, there is a feeling very prevalent in Scotland that Burns was a shamefully used man; that his treatment at the hards of the nobility, and middle class too, of his time led to much of his misery and reckless and ambition. Ebenezer Elliott says of Scotch people and Burns:

They gave him more than gold. They read the brave man's book." But the people of Scotland, England, and the world, read Scott and gave him gold besides.
Thirdly, there was lingering in 1853, and there lingers still, a certain prejudice, partly political and partly religious, against Scott, founded on his Tory principles, and his treatment of the Covenanters. That this prejudice has to a great extent subsided since, we fondly believe; trary, although sometimes profune enough, was a Radical in politics; and his Cottar's Saturday Night, like charity, covered a multitude of perons position in my time, now over thirty sens. Hence nothing will shake him in the estimation of his countrymen. While admit- at this moment the best field in the world either ting Scott's general superiority, they truce it partly to his happier circumstances and greater success, and determinedly hold to it that Burns is the representative poet of his nation.
